

Talga and Possehl Erzkontor sign Graphene Product Sales and Distribution Agreement

Australian advanced materials technology company, Talga Resources Ltd (“Talga” or “the Company”) (ASX:TLG), is pleased to announce it has signed a Sales and Distribution Agreement (“SDA”) with German based commodities and product distribution company Possehl Erzkontor GmbH & Co. KG (“Possehl”), one of the largest sellers of graphite products in Europe and a subsidiary of CREMER Group.

Under the terms of the SDA, Talga grants Possehl the non-exclusive right to globally sell and distribute Talga’s graphene (“Talphene®”) for an initial period of two years, with an option to renew on mutual agreement. In addition to the above terms, the SDA provides Possehl with an exclusive right to sell, market and distribute Talphene® to six of its existing customers.

Talga Managing Director Mark Thompson: “Talga welcomes our partnership with Possehl in the commercialisation of our graphene products at this exciting stage of our development. Not only are Possehl global, high quality commodity suppliers with a rich European trading history, including at times being the largest importer of Swedish iron into Germany, they have also often taken an active role in mineral project infrastructure and logistics.

Possehl has already identified opportunities with several of its large customers whose products may be improved with Talphene® and we look forward to utilising their competency and broad commodities distribution network to market our graphene products, with a view of ultimately establishing offtake agreements.

Possehl Erzkontor GmbH & Co. KG CEO Anthony Cremer: “For Possehl Erzkontor GmbH & Co. KG the cooperation with Talga is a great opportunity to grow into new future markets in partnership with a market leader. We are sure that our worldwide trading and service network and experience will help in bringing the outstanding Talga products to the international market.”
